

Batavia Windmill Symposium 2013

Batavia Public Library presents

Batavia's Place in Windmill History

Saturday, September 14, 2013
9 am to 5 pm at the Library
10 S. Batavia Ave., Batavia, Illinois
(630) 879-1393, ext. 200

Featuring ...

- Recognition of Batavia's windmill collection as a "Historic Mechanical Engineering Landmark" by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers
- Dr. T. Lindsay Baker, of Rio Vista, Texas, on the American windmill story and Batavia's significance in windmill history—a New Lyceum Lecture Series program
- Bob and Francine Popeck, of Batavia, Illinois, on the windmill factories' economic impact on Batavia and the reasons the companies flourished in Batavia
- Christopher Gillis, of Frederick, Maryland, on the Aermotor Company of Chicago, whose founder developed the Aermotor design while working in Batavia
- Tour (self-guided) of Batavia's windmills

Free of charge

Please register online at BataviaPublicLibrary.org

